

software as a service

All StreamFlex solutions can be accessed as a service over the internet. Just sign up to the service and log in. No investment in housing and managing hardware is needed.

For data protection compliance, minimal data needs to be held in the StreamFlex data centre, and that can be obfuscated to make personal identification impossible. StreamFlex is registered with the Information Commissioner.

Of course, we can also deploy all solutions into your data centre for the ultimate control and security.
